

Performing Artists, Entertainers and Entertainment Industry Personnel Work Visa Application

About this form

This application form is for performing artists, entertainers, film and video production crew, and associated support personnel, who intend to engage in any form of private or public performance in New Zealand or work on any entertainment production in New Zealand.

This form is divided into two parts. You (the applicant) must complete the Work Visa Application (sections A to J) and your employer/production company/promoter must complete the Supplementary Form (sections K and L). Guides to completing both the application form and the supplementary form are located after each form.

A completed copy of the supplementary form along with supporting documentation must also be provided by you to the relevant professional association, union or guild.

Where do you send your application and documents?

Applicants who are overseas

Send your completed application form and documents to your nearest Immigration New Zealand office, New Zealand Embassy, or New Zealand High Commission.

Applicants who are in New Zealand

Send your completed application form and documents to your nearest Immigration New Zealand office.

For office addresses, see www.immigration.govt.nz/contactus.

Do you need a visa to work in New Zealand?

You do not need a work visa to work in New Zealand if one of the following applies to you.

- You are a New Zealand citizen.
- You hold a New Zealand residence class visa.
- You hold a special temporary (diplomatic, consular or official) visa.
- You hold a military visa.

If you are an Australian citizen or the holder of a current Australian permanent residence visa or a current Australian resident return visa, you do not need a visa to travel to New Zealand. You must apply for a resident visa on arrival. You will do this by completing an arrival card on the aircraft/ship on your way to New Zealand and presenting it to an immigration officer after you arrive.

What is a visa and what does it allow?

A work visa allows you to work in New Zealand for a limited amount of time.

You can apply for a work visa before travelling to New Zealand. A work visa granted offshore will allow you to travel to the New Zealand border. When you arrive, an immigration officer will check that you still meet the criteria under which your visa was granted. If so, you will be granted entry permission to work in New Zealand.

You can also apply for a work visa once you are already in New Zealand. Whether you apply onshore or offshore, your work visa may include travel conditions allowing a single entry (valid for one journey) or multiple entry (valid for more than one journey).

A work visa may be endorsed in your passport or may be granted electronically, in which case you need to have and keep a printed copy.

What is on a work visa?

A work visa will state the expiry date of your visa, the expiry date of your travel conditions (if you have any), and the conditions of your visa. The conditions may include:

- the type of employment
- the employer's name
- where in New Zealand you can work.

How long can you stay and work in New Zealand?

Some work instructions specify the duration that visas can be granted for; others are linked to the duration of your offer of employment.

If your work visa is nearing expiry, you can apply for a further visa. There is no limit on the number of further visas you may obtain, however the requirements of the instructions that you apply under must continue to be met.

How much does a work visa cost?

For up-to-date information about fees:

- see our Fees Guide (INZ 1028)
- see our website www.immigration.govt.nz/fees
- contact your nearest Immigration New Zealand office.

Our New Zealand branches do not accept cash. Most of our branches outside New Zealand do not accept cash.

What rules must employers meet?

All employers* who want to employ foreign workers or students to work in New Zealand must comply with relevant employment and immigration law. Generally, this includes:

- paying employees no less than the appropriate adult or youth minimum wage or other contracted industry standard
- meeting holiday and special leave requirements or other minimum statutory criteria, eg occupational safety and health obligations
- only employing people who have authority to work in New Zealand.

Under some instructions, the rules may be slightly different.

An employer may not employ a person who holds a temporary visa or limited visa to provide commercial sexual services.

* An employer is a person who employs or engages a person to do work, whether under a contract of service (employee/employer relationship) or a contract for service (contractor).

VisaView

It is an offence to employ a person who is not entitled to work in New Zealand. One way for employers to avoid committing this offence is to check a person's entitlement to work with Immigration New Zealand's online VisaView system. The sharing of information through VisaView is authorised by legislation.

* An employer is a person who employs or engages a person to do work, whether under a contract of service (employee/employer relationship) or a contract for service (contractor).

If you believe that an employer has been given the wrong entitlement information via VisaView you may contact the Immigration Contact Centre (0508 558 855) to request correction of that information.

Will you be eligible for publicly-funded health care in New Zealand?

The Ministry of Health determines eligibility for publicly-funded health care in New Zealand. To see if you are eligible visit the Ministry of Health website www.moh.govt.nz/eligibility.

People covered by New Zealand's reciprocal health agreements with Australia and the United Kingdom are entitled to publicly-funded health care for immediately necessary medical treatment only.

If you seek health care when you are in New Zealand you should carry your passport so that health providers can check whether you are eligible for publicly-funded health care. We strongly recommend that you arrange comprehensive health insurance for your stay in New Zealand.

Immigration Advisers Licensing Act 2007

Under the Immigration Advisers Licensing Act 2007 it is an offence to provide immigration advice without being licensed or exempt. If your immigration adviser is not licensed when they should be, Immigration New Zealand will return your application.

For more information and to view the register of licensed advisers, go to the Immigration Advisers Authority website www.iaa.govt.nz or email info@iaa.govt.nz.

Completing Section C Your health

You may need to provide us with a medical certificate to show that you meet our acceptable standard of health. What you must provide depends on:

- whether you have recently provided a medical certificate with another application
- how long you intend to stay in New Zealand
- what countries you have previously lived in or visited.

Note that children under 11 years of age and pregnant women are not required to have an X-ray, unless a special report is needed.

If you are already in New Zealand, and you are applying for a further visa, you need to include the time you have already spent in New Zealand, as well as the time you intend to stay here, to decide whether or not you need to complete a medical certificate.

Example You have been in New Zealand on a temporary visa for eleven months, and you wish to apply for a work visa for six months. This will mean a stay in New Zealand of more than 12 months in total.

C5 Do you intend to stay in New Zealand for less than six months?

If you intend to stay in New Zealand for less than six months in total, you do not need to provide a medical certificate.

C6 Have you recently sent a medical certificate to Immigration New Zealand?

- ↓ If you have sent a medical certificate to Immigration New Zealand and it has been completed and dated by a medical practitioner within the last 24 months, you do not need to send another medical certificate with this application. We will tell you if we need any further information, such as tests, reports, or an updated medical certificate.

C7

C8 How long do you intend to stay in New Zealand?

We need to know how long you are spending in New Zealand in total so that we can decide whether you need to send a medical certificate, and which certificate you need to send.

More than six months but not longer than 12 months

If you intend to stay in New Zealand for more than six months but not more than 12 months in total, you may have to provide an X-ray Certificate for Temporary Entry (INZ 1096).

C9 More than 12 months

↓ If you intend to stay in New Zealand for more than 12 months, you must complete a Medical and Chest X-ray Certificate (INZ 1007). Note that children under 11 years of age and pregnant women are not required to have an X-ray, unless a special report is needed.

Completing Section K Individual information

K6 Indicate under which of the following criteria you wish to bring the applicant to New Zealand and list the supporting evidence and information provided. Only one is required. However you may tick as many as are relevant.

K7 Evidence and information demonstrating how the criteria indicated have been met must be provided.

A. The applicant is of international distinction or merit, or particular ethnic significance, or is manifestly essential to the presentation or production

Please state how this has been met (and provide evidence where necessary), for example:

- international recognition of the applicant
- key cast/crew who are manifestly essential, through
 - contingent financing and/or distribution, eg demonstrated by written confirmation from a sales agent, distributor, key investor.
 - travelling documentary, serial production, television commercial, tour
- specialist skill/expertise of the applicant that cannot be found in New Zealand
- ethnic or cultural significance of the applicant that cannot be found within New Zealand.

B. The applicant's employment does not put at risk the employment of New Zealand entertainers or professionals in equivalent work unless the wider benefits to be obtained from the applicant's employment outweigh the loss of job opportunities for New Zealanders.

Please state how this has been met with reference to the specific employment of the applicant, for example:

- creating training opportunities for New Zealanders
- the wider economic benefits of the production, for example approximate spend in New Zealand, additional jobs created, and how the employment will help grow the industry
- cultural (or other) benefits of the applicant's employment.

Note: You must show that these wider benefits relate specifically to the applicant's employment and would not arise without that employment.

C. You have given appropriate consideration to employing available New Zealand entertainers or professionals.

Evidence can include:

- Actors: evidence of a bona fide casting round, including the casting brief, the number of New Zealand actors auditioned, names of agencies used, and the reason why the international actor is preferred. If there was no casting round then you need to explain why not.
- Directors: evidence that New Zealand directors were given an opportunity to pitch and the reason why the international director was preferred. If New Zealand directors were not given the opportunity to pitch, you need to explain why not.

- Film and television crew members: how many New Zealand technicians were considered for positions, which crew booking agents were used, which online crew databases were used and the reason why the international crew member is preferred. If there has been no consideration of New Zealand crew members then you need to explain why not.
- Musicians: were New Zealand musicians considered for participation (including as support acts)? If employing New Zealanders (including a support act) was not considered you need to explain why not.
